Gardener Kristin McCahon

A rushing creek runs through this garden, lined with lush greenery and crossable by two foot bridges. The many pathways will lead you to a dominating California red bud, a working veggie garden, West Coast perennials, and a hidden garden shed.

2660 Queens Avenue, West Vancouver The driveway is accessible by wheelchair but is steep.

Gardeners Lois & Peter Woolley

Stonework paths terrace down this expansive garden leading to a lovely pond and arbour. This garden features unique perennials, flowering shrubs, and a large veggie garden.

ARTISTS

Mariana Sola

Colour and strength are part of Mariana's work. Her Latin roots are poured over the canvas as an expression of indelible childhood memories. Her acrylic paintings are inspired by everyday life, with each season leading to a new colour palette.

Meghan Spence

Meghan is a painter based in the Fraser Valley of British Columbia. Her work explores the contemporary landscape and how people relate and connect with the natural environment. She paints with acrylics, expressing the landscape with movement, bold colours, and gestural brushwork.

MUSIC

Natasha D'Agostino & David Blake

Saturday, 12:30pm-2:30pm | Soulful contemporary jazz Blue Bird Day Sunday, 12:30pm-2:30pm | Jazz & pop

Virginia Douglas

Virginia produces acrylic paintings on driftwood and on stretched canvas. She has recently been producing mobiles from driftwood. The canvas pieces are lovely on the wall for indoor décor and the mobiles are great to set within gardens.

Teresa Wegrzyn

A painter who works in acrylic and loves to play with colour and light. She uses a palette knife to create highly textured, impressionistic landscapes that emit joy and vital energy of the world's beauty.

Jeff Wilson

Jeff works with acrylic to produce images in a realistic style, combining a vibrant palette and asymmetric composition to depict the dignity and intensity of the world within his eyes.

Gardener Don Robertson

Enter the garden and look for the white Oamaru stone sculpture from New Zealand featuring the unfurling fern of Maori legend. The fern in that form symbolizes new life, growth and peace. In the backyard the water feature is surrounded by its own mini garden. Step down to the brick patio where the raised garden bed with a multitude of veggies.

955 20th Street, West Vancouver

Gardener Lesley Hobbs

A small spring and fall, secluded, multi-level garden with colourful shrubs nestled in the heart of Hollyburn/Ambleside. Magnolias, rhododendrons, azaleas and masses of bushes including forsythia, fuchsias with their hummingbird groupies, and lots more.

ARTISTS

Riitta Peirone

Riitta is inspired by the scenery on the North Shore and her travels near and far. She enjoys plein air painting and sketching which helps her to connect with nature.

Dianna Burns

Dianna's passion for painting began at an early age and continues to be her saving grace. She has had a dedicated studio practice since 1997 and paints nearly every day. These bold and colourful paintings are the enthusiastic and unfettered results of her inspiration and her spontaneous and uplifting approach to life and making art.

Lesley Hobbs

Acrylic is Lesley's medium of choice. She loves working on large canvases with bold brush strokes. She often incorporates mixed mediums into her canvases to create a textured appearance. Her work displays a love of flowers and nature, and is vibrant in colour and design.

Guity Novin

Using unique mixed-media techniques on large surfaces, this accomplished artist evokes a dramatic and strong mythical feel that pulls you into the rich and sensual imagery.

Gardener Anita Morse

Nestled in a forest garden are a variety of shrubs, rhododendrons, azaleas, magnolias, and maples. Several clematis bloom along garden paths. A delightful pond is lined with various hostas, ferns, and shade flowers. This garden is a peaceful retreat.

3825 St. Georges Avenue, North Vancouver

Gardener Melvin Bruchet

A beautiful West Coast Oriental fusion garden featuring meandering stone and gravel paths that offer a kaleidoscope of garden vignettes. Several water features with a backdrop of sculpted pines, maples, rhodos, azaleas, cedars, wisterias and bonsai. Large decks and planters provide an overview of the back garden and the Vancouver skyline.

Anita Morse

A textile and acrylic artist who enjoys creating abstracts and "wild faces". She paints people and impressionistic landscapes - all done with bursts of colour, experimentation, and happy accidents.

Robert Reid

Through the use of brilliant colour and vibrant brushwork in acrylics, Reid's works will capture your immediate attention. Free flowing application of eye popping colour makes the subject "sing" and transforms the canvas to a real and spiritual beauty.

Pancho & Sal a.k.a Rio Samaya

Saturday & Sunday, 3:00pm-5:00pm Latin guitar & vocals

Linda Waverley

Surrounded by the majesty of the West Coast, Linda's eye is repeatedly drawn to the flora that makes up this panorama. In recent months, she has also explored the use of watercolour to capture vibrant sunsets and nature.

Monica Gewurz

Monica's energy is expressed in her unique jewellery, mixed media paintings, and abstract photographs drawn primarily upon the natural environment and symbolism from ancient civilizations.
